

Instructions for Immigrant Visa Applicants

Lima, Peru

Birth, Marriage, Divorce and Death certificates (as appropriate) All certificates (except those from Lima) that establish the relationship between the petitioner and the beneficiary must be either issued by, or certified by, the Peruvian national civil records registry ("RENIEC"). RENIEC offices issue original birth certificates for some areas in Lima; RENIEC offices throughout Peru can certify the authenticity of certificates from all other areas.

Unobtainable birth certificates

An ecclesiastical notary must certify all baptismal certificates.

Military Records

If you have previously served in the Peruvian military, you will need to present a "Certificado de Antecedents Judiciales y/o Penales" issued by the "Consejo Supremo de Justicia Militar" (CSJM). For more information, see www.csjm.mil.pe/certificado.htm.

Divorce Certificates

If your immigrant visa petition is based upon marriage, you will be required to present proof of dissolution of all previous marriages at the time of the visa interview. Proof of dissolution of marriage in Peru consists of BOTH an annotation on the left margin or back of the marriage certificate, AND a certified copy of the resolution itself.

If both the dissolved marriage and the subsequent marriage took place in Peru, and the divorce dissolving the first marriage took place in a country other than Peru, the applicant will be required to present proof at the time of the visa interview that the foreign divorce was properly registered in Peru through the "exequatur process". This proof also consists of an annotation on the marriage certificate and a resolution issued by the Superior Court

Police certificates

Applicants may require multiple police clearances depending upon the age, nationality, and country of current and past residence of the applicant. For Peruvian applicants, or applicants who have lived in Peru for 6 months or longer, for each visa applicant aged 16 years or older will be required to present at least one police clearance. The following table shows how many police certificates are required based on where the applicant lives and has previously lived.

Present and former residents of the United States should NOT obtain police certificates covering their residence in the U.S.

IF the applicant	AND	THEN the applicant needs
Has Peruvian nationality (Peruvian passport holder), or another nationality and has been living in Peru for more than 6 months.	is 16 years old or older	A national record of prior sentences served ("Certificado de Antecedentes Penales"), provided by the Poder Judicial office at Av. Abancay in Lima.
	is 18 years old or older	Two separate certificates – the national record listed above, plus a national record of prior court appearances ("Antecedentes Judiciales a Nivel Nacional") which is available at the INPE Office located at Jr. Carabaya 456 in Lima.
lived in a country other than Peru for more than 12 months	was 16 years or older at that time	Appropriate clearances issued by the police authorities of that locality, according to the reciprocity information at travel.state.gov.
was arrested for any reason, regardless of how long the applicant lived in the country or locality	was any age at that time	Appropriate clearances issued by the police authorities of that locality, according to the reciprocity information at travel.state.gov. In addition, the applicant will be asked to provide court records at the time of the visa interview.

The police certificate must:

- Cover the entire period of the applicant's residence in that area, and
- State what the appropriate police authorities records show concerning each applicant, including all arrests, the reason for the arrest(s), and the disposition of each case of which there is a record.

Note: Police certificates from certain countries are unavailable. More specific information is available regarding each country's police clearances from NVC, or online at: http://travel.state.gov/visa/frvi/reciprocity/reciprocity_3272.html.